Prayer Points

Our Church

Faith at Home — Thank God for this timely opportunity, with the COVID-19 situation, for all of us, and especially families, to strengthen or reset our practices of faith at home. Pray that we will be convicted and wise about addressing spiritual as well as virus threats.

BOD Meeting (25 Feb) — Thank God for the Board of Deacons. Pray that they will seek God’s direction together and coordinate their work well.

Christianity Explored (26 Feb) — Praise God that 37 in total attended last week, including the CE team. The course ends this week; pray for the Holy Spirit’s continuing work in the participants’ lives, and for the hosts to know how to follow up with them.

Kairos Course (29 Feb) — Thank God that the course has been able to begin. Pray that the participants will learn and grow as they think about God’s purposes across Old and New Testaments.

Our World

COVID-19 Situation — For reflection: “In God’s economy, man’s adversity is God’s opportunity.... It is important for you and I to know that He is on the throne, and to live our lives in light of that. His purpose is always salvation.

The great Creator of the universe has a shepherd’s heart to bring every soul into His Kingdom. And although He is not the source of evil, because He is God, He harnesses evil to serve His salvation purposes.” Anglican Bishop Rennis Ponniah

Singapore Budget — Thank God for the leaders and many civil servants who worked hard to anticipate the country’s goals, challenges, and needs, in order to allocate resources to help ordinary citizens young and old. Pray that, by God’s grace, both state and civil society may continue to grow in care and compassion for all, especially those who need more support.

South Sudan — Locust swarms from the region have now entered South Sudan, where 60% of the population is already facing food insecurity. Pray for God’s mercy, and that the international community will provide the resources to control the pests.

Pray for long-term peace and stability to prevail in this fragile, new nation. About 60% are nominally Christian, and half of these evangelical, yet the country faced a recent civil war, since separating from Sudan in 2011 after decades of conflict. Pray for churches to work for peace and reconciliation, so that people will embrace the gospel, reject ethnic hatred, and demonstrate love and forgiveness.

Threats & Opportunities

COVID-19—one of the hottest topics of conversation the past few weeks. Parents especially are understandably worried about their children catching this virus. I know I am! Even though there have been a few articles published about how children are rather resilient to this virus, I still worry. When I see a new case and the patient is a child, I worry. When I take my daughter to the park or the playground (because staying indoors 24/7 with a 15-month-old will drive you and them crazy!), I worry. When I need to go to the supermarket, because all the online delivery slots are taken up, and I have to bring my daughter with me, I worry. So, I take the necessary precautions—hygiene etc.

But then... I am reminded that COVID-19 is nothing compared to an even greater threat to my child—sin. The effects of this threat last beyond her life on earth; they have eternal consequences. And that should worry me more. So what am I doing about that?

At Zion Bishan we've been talking a lot about discipleship and Faith At Home. We know (I hope we do!) that our role as parents is to bring up our children in a way that helps them recognize they are sinners who need to be saved; to acknowledge the true and living God, and to live under His good rule; to create space and time for moments that help turn their hearts towards God and His Gospel.

The Family Discipleship Team (Children's, Family & Youth Ministries) have been working to put together four Faith At Home (FAH) sessions, run one Sunday during each school holiday. These sessions aim to equip parents to be more intentional in making space for and weaving in such moments into family life.

Our most recent FAH session covered the topic of family devotions, specifically for families with children between ages 0–6. God says in His Word in Psalm 78 that it is our responsibility to declare the wonders He has done to the next generations, so that they may set their hope in Him and not be stubborn and rebellious. How are we obeying this command? How are we fulfilling our responsibility to steward the gifts—our children—that God has given us?

I think this COVID-19 situation gives us opportunity to think through what we do or don't do with regards to discipleship at home. Perhaps it offers us a fresh start at attempting some family prayer/Bible time; or maybe some topical faith conversations around the dinner table. There is no prescribed way of doing things. The command is just to do it—to declare the wonders God has done, to teach His commands diligently to our children (Deut 6).

Let's be thinking more intentionally about the state of our children's hearts, and ask God to help us (broken sinners as well) as we strive to partner the Holy Spirit in the work He does in their hearts.

Our next FAH session will be on the 15th of March on Blessing Our Children. For more information, or if you would like some suggestions for materials to use with your children (ages 0–12), talk to Linus or Ruth.
