Because It's Him Who Sends

Rev Henry Eatock-Taylor

Luke 11:1-13

Why might anxiety stop us engaging in mission?

Praying God's concerns... (v1-4)

- His priorities

- His promises

...with confidence (v5-13)

- His paternity

- His person

Discussion Questions:

1. Do you get anxious when it comes to engaging in mission? Why?
2. Jesus promises we can ask for God's Spirit to help us. How does this truth help us face such anxiety? (Luke 11:13)
3. Take a moment to remember Who it is that sends us on His mission - how does this give you confidence?
4. Consider the idea of regularly praying the Lord's Prayer - can you think of how this forms and fuels our Mission Mindset? (Give some examples).

Prayer Points

Our Church

July Missions Month – Your Kingdom

Come - As we embark on a new series in July, let's be asking God to enlarge our hearts and minds for His Kingdom. Knowing the times we're living in, may we feel also the urgency for the lost to be reached with the Gospel. Pray for His Spirit's empowering for us to be emboldened witnesses for Him wherever we go.

Apprentices – We praise God for our 5 brothers and sisters who began their year of apprenticeship with us this past Tuesday! Let us as a church family lift up Christina, Timothy See, Jen Wei, Melvin and Annette to the Lord for the year ahead - that they grow in knowledge and delight in the Lord Jesus, sitting at His feet, listening to His teaching, rejoicing that their names are written in heaven (Luke 10). May they thus be shaped and formed by His Spirit in their training and ministry.

BPCIS Retreat – Pray for around 100 leaders from across the BP churches who will be going for the annual BPCIS retreat over the next two days. It is a critical moment for our denomination as we think about moving to the next phase of growth, cooperation & outreach!

Our People

KY – Thank God for answered prayer for a rescheduled flight back to West Asia yesterday. The conflict continues unabated in the region, so pray for safe travels for her and transition back to work in the refugee camp. Pray for the NGO that she works for to have enough resources for a special needs centre that they have set up to provide early intervention services for special needs children with Cerebral Palsy (CP).

Our World

Ministry to the Visually Challenged (VC) in Indonesia – Our partner in this part of Indonesia reports the encouraging testimony of Brother B, who is VC and sells crackers for his living. Our partner has a ministry led by another VC christian brother who helps teach others with similar challenges how to use technology and smart investment to earn a better living. Brother B was served by this ministry and was able to have some money to go to university. Praise God he was able to graduate with a major in Education recently. In addition to helping this community better themselves, this ministry has been able to start an online Bible study with some of them. They now have several people whom they have disciplined leading other bible studies in the VC community. May this ministry continue to share the love of Christ to the VC community and their families.

Camp photo (taken on Sat 21 June 2025)

“I believe that before Jesus would have us get sent on mission for Him, He would have us first learn to sit with Him, behold His beauty, listen to His teaching, and catch what is on His heart; And from that place, be ready to give your YES to Jesus.”

This is an excerpt from my foreword in this year’s camp program booklet. During our pre-camp briefing, and at least twice during the camp itself, I spoke about 3 objectives for everyone at this camp:

Time with Jesus

Time with Family

Time to Say “Yes”

As I looked through the written feedback from our campers, and from what I’ve gathered from some of you in person, it was heartening to find that this camp served this purpose for many.

There is one thing though that we cannot 'collect feedback' about – it's that unseen part of "Time with Jesus". I really hope that that had been the experience of everyone who came.

Where there were any flaws or faults, that rests on me, and I seek your kind forbearance.

But I am so thankful for everyone who served in one way or another at camp. I am thankful also for those who made a special effort to reach out to our first-time campers, especially those who are not yet part of the Zion Bishan family.

And I'm super grateful for our speaker, and for the committee who worked real hard to make this camp as positive an experience as it could be for our 458 campers.

We are not done yet.

We are now into Missions Month, and we will be hearing from a range of speakers speaking about "Getting Sent" and on being a Sending Church. I believe that all of us are called to be missional wherever we are – because that's what God has made us to be!

But I also believe that each of us must seriously consider how we play a part in missions. Some of us may not hear a call to go and serve long-term among the unreached, but we all can still do something about what is on our Father's heart.

It's part and parcel of having a missional mindset, and it begins with the simple call from Jesus to follow Him. We let Him decide how and where He wants us to go.

That's what Kingdom People do.

#getsent
